Trip to Olkaria Geothermal Power plant

On Thursday 18th June, our High School and Middle School students kicked off their half-term break with a visit to Kengen and Olkaria geothermal power plant which is located inside Hell's gate National Park in Nakuru County. It was such an educative trip for the students who were very excited to learn. Mr. Charles - our guide, received us and took us through all the processes from production of electricity to generation and channeling to Kenya Power & Lighting Company for transmission. The students were attentive, fascinated by the technology and eager to understand the entire process. They were curious and asked a lot of questions and were commended by their guide and in return they thanked him for his patience and humility to listen and respond to all their questions. We thank Mr. Simbiri who linked Koinonia with Kengen making it possible for our students to receive this exposure to enable them relate what they are learning in their PACES with what they observed at the power plant.

Koinonia Service

"I am created to be a creative servant" was our theme for Koinonia service that was held at Kyuna Christian fellowship on the 17th May 2015. Parents, students and teachers gathered together as a family to offer their worship to God for His faithfulness to us. The message shared by Pastor Mbae encouraged both young and old to consider others more than themselves. This was emphasized through the story of Tabitha from the book of Acts 9; 36-43. The culmination of the service was marked by the baptism of two students; this was conducted by Pastor Ichihashi. We bless God for the good work He is doing in the life of the every member of the Koinonia family. Together we will live to honor Him.

Sports Day

Last week was event packed for Koinonia. On Tuesday, we had Sports Day which was themed "Ball Day" where the three houses competed against each other in a series of ball games including football, hitting a target and "obstacle" dodge ball. On Wednesday, we had parents-teachers consultation and on Thursday we went on half term.
